CHATEAU DE LA FONT DU LOUP ROUGE

2019

JEB DUNNUCK

The 2017 Châteauneuf-du-Pape Blanc is cut from the same cloth and has classic minerality as well as notes of caramelized apples, brioche, and spice. It's rich yet fresh at the same time, with a medium-bodied, vibrant, balanced style that will keep it drinking nicely for 4-5 years, and I suspect even longer.

Naissant sur un point culminant de l'appellation, les vins ne souffrent jamais de sur-maturité.

Le blanc est frais dans un style assez digeste. Il sera facile à boire dès sa prime jeunesse.

CHATEAU DE LA FONT DU LOUP ROUGE

JEB DUNNUCK

The medium to full-bodied 2018 Châteauneuf-du-Pape is a blend of 60% Grenache, 20% Mourvèdre 15% Syrah and 5% Cinsault. Attractive scents of cumin, clove, leather and cherries appear on the nose, while the palate is silky-textured, with fine-grained tannins lingering gently on the finish. Not overly rich, ripe or extracted, it strikes an elegant, balanced pose for drinking over the next 8-9 years.

CHATEAU DE LA FONT DU LOUP ROUGE

2017

The impressive 2017 Châteauneuf-du-Pape is a blend of 65% Grenache, 20% Mourvèdre and 15% Syrah, matured in foudres, older barrels and demi-muids. Bright cherries and raspberries appear on the nose alongside hints of anise and orange zest, followed by ample weight on the palate, a creamy-velvety texture and a vibrant, zesty finish that echoes with pepper and licorice. It should drink well for more than a decade.

JEB DUNNUCK

The traditional cuvée from this estate always delivers incredible complexity and elegance, and the 2017 Châteauneuf-du-Pape is no exception. Revealing a deep ruby color as well as beautiful notes of kirsch, wild strawberries, Asian spice, garrigue, and ground pepper, this medium to full-bodied beauty has an endearing sense of elegance and purity, good acidity and freshness, and a great finish. Drink it over the coming 15-20 years. The traditional cuvée is 65% Grenache, 20% Mourvèdre, and 15% Syrah, brought up in a mix of foudre, demi-muids, and old barrels.

2016

A blend of 60% Grenache, 25% Mourvèdre, 10% Syrah and 5% Cinsault aged in a variety of different vessels, Font du Loup's 2016 Châteauneuf-du-Pape is a worthy successor to the fine 2015. Some slightly edgy herbal notes on the nose should integrate with the bright cherry fruit within a year or two, so give it a little to come together. This is textbook medium to full-bodied Châteauneuf, with a dusting of cocoa powder over ripe cherries lingering elegantly on the finish.

JEB DUNNUCK

The 2016 Châteauneuf-du-Pape is a beauty. Beautiful kirsch and blackberry fruits, ground herbs, hints of flowers, and pepper all flow to a medium to full-bodied, seamless wine that has terrific depth and richness as well as sweet tannin. It's well worth a case purchase and will drink brilliantly for 10-15 years. The blend in 2016 is 60% Grenache, 25% Mourvèdre, and the rest Syrah and Cinsault.

CHATEAU DE LA FONT DU LOUP ROUGE

2015

The grapes for Font du Loup's 2015 Châteauneuf-du-Pape weren't destemmed, and it shows in the wine's pretty, garrigue-scented floral aromas. Ripe cherries take over on the full-bodied, creamy-supple palate, ending on a bright, berry-like finish. This is deceptively easy to drink already, but it should evolve gracefully for up to 15 years.

91/100

JEB DUNNUCK

The 2015 Châteauneuf-du-Pape from is a fresh, elegant expression of this cooler terroir. Strawberries, wildflowers and hints of spice all flow to a medium-bodied, silky, elegant and polished 2015 that has sweet tannin and a light, weightless texture. It's already delicious, yet will keep for over a decade give its balance.
